Officer's more than Gun Handler!

Law enforcement is not all carrying guns, riding on patrol and arresting bad guys. Some very essential behind the scenes skills are a necessity to complete the services.

Recently one of many such skills possessed by Deputy Sheriff John Rogers facilitated the arrest of the Heber Zion's Bank robber. His abilities as a photographer and film processor have been invaluable to the Sheriff's Department since he bought himself two 35 MM cameras and processing and enlarging equipment. This is an interest he had in high school where he took a photography class. Sheriff Spanos saw his skills and equipment as a needed resource and scheduled him to attend the Kodak Law Enforcement Seminar at POST in March of 1982.

Immediately after the bank robbery the alarm company was contacted to have the film in the surveillance camera processed. They indicated that it would take at least two days. The 150 feet of film posed a unique problem. No one knew what kind of film it was so the required process time was unknown. Deputy Rogers and Heber City Police Officer Rex Pederson took the film to the darkroom in John's home and began to experiment with it. The process time was determined by experimentation and then pictures were developed. Officer Rogers turned the picture over to the FBI and the Heber City Police Department. These pictures were distributed to the media. By the afternoon of the day the pictures were published a relative of the suspect contacted Sheriff Spanos with his identification and several people from Utah County contacted police there with the same identification. The suspect was apprehended in Utah County.

Officer Pederson said there is reason to believe that without the prompt availability of the pictures the suspect would not have been apprehended because at the time of arrest he had in his possession airplane tickets out of the country. The FBI expressed their appreciation also for the promptness and quality of the photos.

Sheriff Spanos says that in addition to his photographic talents, Officer Rogers is a specialist in other areas. He is an Emergency Medical Technician, a certified diver and a computer buff. He with Kim Rice have designed guidelines for a computer program in the Sheriff's Office that is being used by this county and eight other counties at this time. In addition, John has compiled forms being used in the court system in the county. The duty he enjoys most is snowmobile patrol.

Sheriff Spanos says, "With a small force and many diverse needs that the geographic area and population we serve requires, our men have to be specialists in many areas. We certainly appreciate John, his skills and his willingness to serve. We have good, quality men who are always upgrading their capabilities."

ARCHIE AND ELIZA
MURDOCK SELLERS

Archie Sellers was born February 8, 1880 on the farm in Center Creek, the second child of Archibald and Elizabeth Buys Sellers.

As a boy and young man he worked on the farm, and having no sisters, often helped his mother with the housework. He inherited some of his father's keen sense of humor and had the happy faculty of providing laughs for everyone. He continued to develop this quality as he grew older, and there was never a dull moment when he was present.

In 1901 Archie and Eliza Murdock were married and to them were born 14 children. For a short time after their marriage Archie and Eliza lived in Park City. Later they moved to Heber where Archie worked for the Heber waterworks as well as for the mines. He also served as deputy sheriff of Wasatch County.

Archie made an invaluable contribution to the people of Heber and vicinity during the dreadful influenza epidemic of 1918. He went into home after home and nursed the stricken from the brink of death back to life and health. He went fearlessly wherever needed, mostly without remuneration and always with a smile and a kind word. It was frequently said that no person in the county did more to help during that difficult time than did Archie.

He liked people and could always see the best in everyone. He was especially interested in young people, and young men often sought him out to discuss their problems. Today many people are thankful for the sound common sense advice he gave them.

Archie and Eliza, with their large and wonderful family, moved to Provo, Utah, in 1919, where Archie became a police officer. He held this position for many years. He had a knack of seeing the other fellow's viewpoint and was both understanding and sympathetic. He could arrest a man and yet retain his friendship.

Archie and Eliza lived a long and happy life together. Although many parents would be tied down on account of the size of the family, they always found a good way to attend religious and other functions and took real pride in the life of the community.

Archie passed away in 1940. He will be long remembered for his infectious sense of humor and for his kindly, helpful spirit.

Major Studio Signs Sellier

Tri-Star Pictures, a major Hollywood studio owned jointly by Columbia Pictures, CBS Television, and HBO Cable, announced today that Charles E. Sellier, Jr. has been signed with them to direct the new theatrical motion picture, SLAY RIDE.

Having just completed THE NATURAL, starring Robert Redford, Tri-Star will begin filming SLAY RIDE in Utah's Heber Valley on March 26th. Sellier states, "I am very pleased to be working on this project with Tri-Star. The film is a murder mystery that takes place in a small wintery town so the Utah location is ideal."

Veteran producer-director of theatrical motion pictures, Sellier's solid reputation as a film maker is founded on such big-dollar successes as GRIZZLY ADAMS, IN SEARCH OF NOAH'S ARK, BEYOND AND BACK, HANGAR 18, and THE BOOGENS. In addition, Sellier has created and produced four of America's most popular television series: GREATEST HEROES OF THE BIBLE, CLASSICS ILLUSTRATED, MARK TWAIN'S AMERICA, and GRIZZLY ADAMS.

Sellier's current box-office success, IN SEARCH OF A GOLDEN SKY, is a wilderness feature filmed in Utah last fall. The "...GOLDEN SKY" production was followed closely by the filming of a youth comedy, SMOOTH MOVES which was shot in and around the Park City Resort. SMOOTH MOVES is currently scheduled for spring release.

A long time resident of Utah, Sellier continues to be the industry's strongest advocate of film-making in this state. Having recently activated his own production company, Sellier Entertainment, the company plans to produce theatrical motion pictures as well as network and cable television programming. As in the past, Sellier's projects will be filmed almost exclusively in Utah.

Wave 23 Feb 1983

Charles E. Sellier today announced he is leaving his post as president and chief operating officer of Comworld Pictures, Inc., the theatrical distribution arm of the Orem, Utah-based Comworld Group. Sellier has negotiated a release from his contract in order to develop, produce and distribute his own slate of theatrical motion pictures.

Sellier, formerly president of Sunn Classic Pictures, is noted for his use of market research and testing throughout all phases of film making and distribution. Sellier states that he is leaving Comworld because "The company be Mike Beck who is currently executive vice president. Regarding Sellier's departure, Beck said, "We will miss Chuck's marketing and production expertise", citing the impressive grosses from "...GOLDEN SKY". Beck emphasized that Comworld does have a commitment from Sellier to produce and direct another theatrical feature in 1984.

Sellier's own upcoming projects include: "IN SEARCH OF THE ARK OF THE COVENANT," a follow-up to "...NOAH'S ARK"; "WILD AND CRAZY," a youth comedy; "DARK HOURS," a modern day horror film; and "RIDE THE WILD WIND," a family oriented animal picture. All the new Sellier projects have been extensively tested and targeted to specific audience segments. Sellier intends to distribute them himself.

HENRY FOWLES WATSON
(called HARRY)

He was born in Heber City December 6, 1869. He was the first child of Thomas Squire Watson and Elizabeth Honeyman to be born in Utah as they left Scotland in April, 1869 and arrived in Heber in September of 1869. So he really crossed the ocean. He was the fifth son, and later more brothers and two sisters arrived making 12 children, only four grew to manhood. Thomas Squire and William Don were born in Scotland.

When he was six and his brother Bill ten, there was a dispute at the chopping block and Henry's toes were cut nearly off on one foot. They were fastened back on with molasses. At the age of 13 he helped his father Thomas freight butter, chicken, eggs, grain and passengers to Park City. They also carried the mail. On coming home one day from freighting they were told that his mother Elizabeth, who was 54, had been killed by a bull she had taken to water many times. Henry was then 19.

Later he worked for Kimball Coal yards at Park City and so there is where they made their first home after he married Ella Maria Murdock on Dec. 22, 1892. Lacy and Harry were born there. They later moved to Heber where he went in the cattle business with his father. Here Nymphas and Maud Ella were born in the old John Muir place.

Later they purchased a large farm from his father-in-law in Charleston, and here many things happened. Then Elvera was born, also Sina, Thaylia, Mazie, Esther, Thomas and Robert.

Lots of work and problems, big farm expense, sickness, schoolings, degrees, missions, and one son Harry served in World War I. But through it all, sorrows, or joys they were taught to love others and help, and above all, to work. Father's home, like his heart, was always open to relatives or strangers. Like the sleigh loads that rode to church or to parties, there was always room for more. At Christmas time the sleigh was loaded with boxes of food and goodies for the widows and older people of Charleston.

HOW BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

He drove the children to school for six years in a covered sleigh and wagon and would bring some on to Heber to school.

He remembered when mules pulled street cars in Salt Lake and has seen so many changes take place.

He was deputy sheriff in 1921-22 for several months at Soldiers Summit. He was president of the Farm Bureau for eight years. The large reservoir now called Deer Creek took all the land, but a bit of hill ground, and his family all married, they purchased a home at Heber City. They did lots of temple work in the various temples.

On April 5, 1942 Aunt Ella passed away. Later Henry married Janet G. Duke, and in declining years they have had many joys along with problems and sorrows that come to large families. Many family parties have been held in his honor at age of 88½ years. He still drives his car, visits the sick, and his donations and help have been to many. He has one brother David C. Watson, 52 grandchildren, and 68 great-grandchildren, and many loved ones and friends.

ELLA MARIA MURDOCK
WATSON

Ella Maria Murdock was born February 22, 1871, in Salt Lake City. She was the third daughter of Nymphas Cordon Murdock and Esther Mariah Davies. Their home was a two-story adobe house, where the Newhouse Hotel now stands. In June 1875 they moved to Charleston where she was baptized on May 10, 1879. As a small child she and her sister Malissa would go with their mother and others and take the town cattle up Deckers Canyon by the spring and make butter and cheese. When Primary was organized in Charleston by Eliza R. Snow, Ella was chosen secretary at the age of 12. They would often go to the fort at Heber for safety. She worked in the store at Charleston where her father was the owner. Some few years later she was president of the Young Ladies Mutual Assn. She was a member of the Wasatch Dramatic Company.

December 22, 1892, she married Henry Fowles Watson at Charleston. Judge Thomas S. Watson performed the ceremony. They made their first home in Park City. Here their first two children were born, Lacy Elizabeth and Harry M. At Park City she was the member of the Dramatic Company with Fred Rasband and Earl J. Glade as members. Ella received her patriarchal blessing from John Smith October 31, 1897. They moved to Heber where they had two more children, Nymphus C. and Maud Ella. Later they purchased a ranch formerly owned by Nymphus C. Murdock. Here seven children were born, loved and taught to live clean lives. They were Elvera, Thaylia, Sina, Mazie, Esther, Thomas and Robert. Esther died at the age of three. There was always room for more at their table and at their home friend or stranger was welcome. They always had plenty to eat. This is where work was invented, but lots of pleasure and joy.

She worked in Relief Society and Primary a number of years. On Oct. 29, 1919, she and her husband went to the temple and had their family sealed to them. The children were all married but one. She has always been a member of Daughters of Pioneers ever since its organization. She was president of the Timpanogas Camp at Charleston.

Before the Deer Creek dam project took the ranch, they bought a home in Heber. During the winter months they went south to Arizona and St. George to do temple work. In 1940 Thomas died. The winter of 1941 they spent in Arizona, Ella was not well. They came home. On April 9, 1942 she passed away with most of her loved ones around her. She was a wonderful mother, loved and honored by all who knew her.

Samuel Steven Foster escaped with minor injuries after the Buick he was driving smashed into a Wasatch County Vehicle and the two rolled down an embankment.

Wasatch County Deputy Escapes Injuries in High Speed Chase

23 July 1986

Wasatch County Deputy Blake Wright escaped without serious injuries when he blocked a 1973 Buick with his county vehicle on Highway 40 east of Heber City, Friday night, according to Highway Patrol Sargeant Ronald Gale.

Sgt. Gale said Deputy John Rogers observed Samuel Steven Foster, 34, of Denver, driving the Buick in the Strawberry Dam area. Deputy Rogers suspected the driver was under the influence of alcohol but, when he signaled for the suspect to stop, he sped up.

The deputy pursued the suspect west for about 12 miles, then radioed ahead for help. Deputy Wright answered the call and pulled his 1984 Dodge Ram Charger across the highway in front of Foster in an attempt to stop or slow him down. At impact, the two vehicles locked together, skidded out of control, went over a guardrail and fell down a 25-foot deep embankment. The county vehicle remained upright, but Foster's overturned. He was pinned in for about 40 minutes until EMTs were able to free him.

Both men were taken to Wasatch County Hospital where Wright was treated and released. Foster was released the next morning. Both vehicles were totaled.

Sgt. Gale said the Buick was registered to Darlene Percival, of Salt Lake City, and had been reported stolen the morning of the chase.

The case has been referred to the county attorney and charges are pending.

Wasatch Deputy One of 59 On-Duty Officers Killed in Accidents Last Year

15 May 1991

by Sonni Schwinn

During 1990, 59 law enforcement officers in the United States lost their lives because of accidents that occurred while they were on duty, according to preliminary national figures released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation last month.

One of those officers was Wasatch County Deputy Blake Wright, who died while fighting the wildfire west of Midway last August. Although Deputy Wright is often referred to as a firefighter in news reports, and was experienced in firefighting, at the time of his death he technically was acting as a deputy helping to put out a fire. Ralph Broadhead, who lost his life with Deputy Wright, was a county public works employee, using his skills with a bulldozer to cut a fireline.

Violent crime in Wasatch County is minimal and residents live virtually free of fear, especially when compared with high crime rates in other parts of the country. But local law enforcement officers encounter exactly the same situations as officers in New York or Los Angeles, which can erupt into violent and sometimes fatal attacks. The same weapons used to kill officers in metropolitan areas are readily available in Wasatch County.

The FBI reports that, in addition to the accidental deaths, 65 officers were killed feloniously in the line of duty last year, the lowest number since the agency began to collect the statistics in the 1960s. The following information is included in the 1990 report.

• Firearms continued to be the weapon used most often to slay officers, with handguns used in 48 of the murders, rifles in seven, and a shotgun in one case.

• Of the remaining murders, three officers were stabbed, two were beaten with blunt objects, two were killed by hands, fists or feet, one was intentionally struck by a vehicle, and one was killed when his patrol boat was intentionally rammed.

• 28 officers were attempting to apprehend or arrest suspects when slain-13 were attempting to thwart robberies or pursuing robbery suspects; four were involved in drug-related situations; one was pursuing a burglary suspect; and ten were attempting arrests for other crimes.

• Ten officers were answering disturbance calls when they were slain; nine were investigating suspicious persons or circumstances; nine were ambushed; six were enforcing traffic laws; two were handling or transporting prisoners; and one was killed by a mentally deranged person.

• 16 officers were wearing body armor at the time they were killed. • Three of the officers were killed with their own weapons. • Law enforcement has cleared 63 of the 65 slayings.
